life is like a PUZZLE

If you are having trouble "getting it together" you may be missing a piece!

God is very real and loves you. He wants to help you, protect you, and provide for you. But you must be willing to let Him. If you are tired of trying to get all the pieces together alone, and are ready to give God a chance, please write for some free literature. You will not be visited or put on a mailing list, you will just receive some helpful information in the mail. Write to:
